College Success Tips

Tips for Being Successful

- Be sure you bring your NU ID and bus pass to campus.
- Keep organized—use a planner, phone calendar or other method for keeping track of assignments and meetings.
- Get involved! Join 1-2 student organizations first semester. If you join 2 groups, join one that is related to your major and another that's just something you enjoy.
- GO TO CLASS!
- Stay on top of your assignments. Work ahead as much as possible—don't wait until the night before an assignment is due.
- At the first sign you don't understand, seek help. Where?
    - Professor's office hours
    - Help centers, such as the Math Resource Center
    - First-Year Experience and Transition Programs (success.unl.edu)
- Work with your academic advisor at least once every semester. (First semester you may want to meet with him/her more than once.)

Advisor Relationships

- What is an academic advisor?
    - You will have a person assigned who will provide individualized advising and guidance throughout your college career
- Why should I meet with my advisor?
    - Keeps your education on track
    - Personalize your academic path
    - Align career plans with academic opportunities
- Connect with your advisor
    - NSE Advisor may not be your permanent advisor
    - Meet with your advisor within the first couple weeks of school
